Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From December 19. to December 26. 1734.

MADRID, September 28.

HIS Majeſty has declared the Prince of Maſſerane Captain General of his Armies. Forty Veſſels fitted out at Barcelona are ready to ſail thence for Italy, to tranſport thither a great Quantity of Ammunitions of War. 'Tis aſſured that four Regiments of Cavalry have Orders to repair to Barcelona, to embark there, for the Purpoſe of joining the Army of the Allies in Lombardy. The King having given Orders to carry in Proceſſion the miraculous Image of our Lady d'Atocha, and to put up Prayers of eight Hours, to obtain, by the Interceſſion of the Bleſſed Virgin, a Ceſſation of the Drought which has been here for a long time; they have accordingly made this Proceſſion for two Days ſucceſſively, in which that Image was carried the 23d in the Evening to the Church of the College of St. Thomas, and next Morning to that of the Royal Monaſtry of the Bare-footed Carmelites, and all the ſeveral Orders of Fryars aſſiſted thereat. The 25th the Council of Caſtile went to the Church where that Image is kept, and began there Prayers, which are to laſt 'till the 3d of next Month inclusively, and different Councils are to attend on different Days at that Office, and the Religious Communities will go ſucceſſively in Proceſſion to celebrate a Solemn Maſs there: From the 23d it began to Rain, and ſince the Rains have fallen in great Abundance.

From the Camp at Commeſſagio, October 4.

The 30th paſt the King of Sardinia and Marſhal de Coigny detached from the Army the Marquis de Mailebois, a Lieutenant-General, to form the Siege of Mirandola, with 6 Battalions and 10 Squadrons. We learn from Mantua, that there died every Day a great Number of wounded Men, which had been carried thither after the Battle of Guaſtalla.

Vienna, Octo. 4. There is ordered 15 Battalions from our Army on the Rhine, to march for Italy, to reinforce our Army there. It is reſolved to have a powerful ſtrength on the Po next Spring, in order to give Check Mate to the King of Sardinia.

Ratisbon, Octo. 7. Prince Eugene paſſed by here this Morning, continuing his Voyage on the Danube for Vienna.

From the Rhine, Octob. 9.

The Imperial Troops defile towards their Winter Quarters. The Marſhal d'Asfeldt is yet at his Army in the Plains of Weill, and has put put all the Briſgau under Contribution. Prince Eugene has paſſed to Cronſtat, in his Way to Vienna, leaving the Duke of Wirtemberg, Brother to Prince Louis of that Name, who was killed in the Battle of Guaſtalla, to Command in his Place during the Winter. The Prince Royal of Pruſſia, and the Prince of Orange are alſo departed for their Winter Quarters. The Houſhold is to depart this Day, and in two or three more the Troops will be ſeparated.

Hamburg, October 4. Our laſt Letters from Berlin mention, that the King of Pruſſia, who is now better, hoped ſoon to be able to go from Potſdam to Berlin, which his Phyſicians believe will be better for his Health. Some Letters from Copenhagen talk of a Treaty being concluded by the Court of Great Britain, with that of Denmark, for 6000 Men.

From the French Camp at Cizolo, October 4.

The Army march'd Yeſterday Morning, and is come to encamp, the Right drawing towards Laſtrada, and the Left to Commeſſaza, where our General Quarters are; thoſe of the King are at Sabionette, and M. de Montal is left at Guaſtalla, with the Brigade of Curiaſſiers, 80 Huſſars, and 8 Battalions, encamp'd in the entrench'd Camp near that Village, which covers our two Bridges on the Po. The Carabineers have had Orders to remain near Dozolo, under M. de Bonas, and M. de la Mothehoudancourt. The Marquis d'Epinay is encamped at Laſtrada, with 9 Squadrons of Dragoons. The Count de Lautrec has been detached with the Campagne, the Regiments of Touloufe and Roſen Horſe, and 6 Squadrons of Dragoons, to poſt himſelf at the Confluence of the Oglio with the Po, and hinder the Enemy paſſing the River at that Place, as was their Deſign; but we have juſt now learned that they marched to the Side of Caveto, and that 6000 Recruits, and the two Battallions of Colmenero have joined them.

From the ſame Camp, October 6.

We are informed by Deſerters, that the Count de Koningſeg had order'd ſix Days Biſcuit Advance to all his Army, which ſeems ſomewhat extraordinary, when they have been uſed to be almoſt ſix Days in Arrear for Bread; but they will have it, that they deſign to offer us Battle again, at what Price ſoever it be, the Emperor having given Orders for it; and with this View, all the German Equipage is left in the Seraglio, and in Mantua; ſo you are, according to this Account, to expect another full and true Relation, &c.

From the Camp of Commeſſazo, October 7.

The Army has made no Motion ſince my laſt, nor have we had any News from that of the Enemy ſince they have ſtuff'd their Haverſacks with Bread, much good may it do them. We had Advice Yeſterday from M. Maillebois's Camp, that the Bombs have not had the deſired Effect in Mirandola, the Enemy diſcovering no Inclination to ſurrender. It is ſaid, that the Emperor having ſent 15 Battallions of Reinforcements to the Army, has ordered his Generals to hold out the Campaign all the Winter.

Paris, October 11. The Court ſent Orders a few Days ago to ſeveral Regiments of the Army in Germany, to go immediately to that of Italy; the Liſt of which, and the Number of Battallions, is as follows, viz.

Regiments	Battalions.
Piedmont	4
Navarre	4
Normandie	4
Richlieu	3
Vexin	1

Dauphin

Dauphine	1
Swiſſes	4
In all	21

The like Orders were alſo ſent to Italy for the following Regiments, which have ſuffered moſt, to come back, viz.

Regiments.	Battallions.
Picardie	4
Champagne	2
The Kings	4
Orleans	2
In all	12

Paris, October 13. The Letters from the Army in Italy of the 1ſt Inſt. adviſe, that the Loſs which the Imperialiſts ſuffered at Guaſtalla was much more conſiderable than was at firſt publiſhed, becauſe their 200 Proviſion Waggons which followed their Army, carried off by Degrees their Kill'd and Wounded, in order to conceal their Loſs, which was very great.

Paris, October 16. The Marquis de Chaſte; Major General, is dead of his Wounds at Guaſtalla, and the Marquis d'Hauteforte who had an everlaſting Law Suit with his Wife, has been attack'd in his Rear with a Fiſtula at Parma.

Letters from the Army in Italy of the 4th Inſtant adviſe, That the Imperialiſts continued ſtill in the ſame Poſts, and that they daily expected a Reinforcement of 7 or 8000 Men of new-raiſed Troops, beſides 10 or 1200 Men which Prince Eugene has detached from his Army to march for Italy: That the Troops of the Allies were likewiſe in the ſame Scituation, having their Head Quarters at St. Bionetto, where 4 Regiments of the King of Sardinia's Troops were lately arrived from Savoy, and that they ſuddenly expected 7 or 8000 Men of French Militia, which have already paſſed the Mountains.

We learn from Marſeilles, that the Grand Prior is come into that Port with the Gallies of France, and has brought with him the Prince and Princeſs of Modena; but as he did this without giving Advice thereof to Court, Orders are diſpatch'd for him to ſend back the ſaid Prince and Princeſs on board one of the Gallies to Genoa; and 'tis aſſur'd the Duke of Orleans has ſent a conſiderable Sum of Money to the Princeſs of Modena his Siſter.

By an Ordinance of the King the 15th paſt, his Majeſty has regulated the Number of Officers of the Cavalry, Dragoons and Infantry, who are to have Leave of Abſence from the Army this Winter. Another Ordinance is publiſhed for ſettling the Rank of the Captains of Horſe and Dragoons of the new Levy. And a 3d Ordinance for regulating the Payment of the Troops and Militia during next Winter.

LONDON, October 12.

Yeſterday being the Anniverſary of Their Majeſties Coronation, the ſame was obſerved throughout the Cities and Suburbs of London and Weſtminſter, with all poſſible Demonſtrations of Joy.

Laſt Week died in an advanced Age, in His Majeſty's Yard at Woolwich, Capt. Jabez Singleton, who ſerved in the Royal Navy upwards of 50 Years, and was preſent at the unhappy Misfortune, when Sir Cloudeſly Shovel and ſeveral other Perſons of Diſtinction, were caſt away on the Rocks of Scilly.

On Wedneſday Night laſt one of the late Domeſticks of his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury (who we hear was ſome time ſince charged with Sodomitical Practices, and for want of a Character, had lain for ſome Time out of Buſineſs) cut his Throat from Ear to Ear, in ſo deſperate a Manner that he ſurvived his Misfortune but a few Minutes.

Mr. Henley's Oration, pronounced before the Indians, was received by a very numerous Audience of all Parties, with univerſal Approbation, as abounding with Select Topicks of Learning on that Subject; and his pronouncing the Indian Lord's Prayer, was judg'd not only exact, but more emphatical than their own, by the Natives.

In order to do Honour to Religion, for the Glory of God, the utmoſt Encouragement of Learned Men, and the moſt effectual Good of Mankind, Mr. Henly propoſes, every Sunday Morning to Preach on any Text choſen then by any Gentleman or Lady in the Oratory, and to diſpute on any Queſtion then choſen: In the Evening after the Lecture, will be a Diſputation between J. S. and Mr. Henly, Whether the Firſt or Seventh Day be more known, one from Chriſt, the other from the Creation.

On Wedneſday laſt a Journeyman Blackſmith murdered his Wife at his Lodgings in Church-ſtreet, St. Giles's, by ſtrangling her with a Handkerchief, and the Deceaſed lay in the Room undiſcovered, 'till the Saturday following, when the Neighbours not ſeeing her Abroad as uſual, cauſed the Door to be broke open, and there found her lying on the Floor. And, Yeſterday the Coroner's Inqueſt ſat on her Body, and brought in their Verdict Wilful Murder. The Husband has made his Eſcape.

On Friday laſt was decently Buried at Hillingdon, Elizabeth, the pious Relict of John Walker, of little London, Eſq; formerly Clerk Aſſiſtant in the Houſe of Lords; ſhe died in the 75th Year of her Age, and has left three Daughters.

Yeſterday ſeveral Priſoners were removed from the Gatehouſe, Weſtminſter, to Newgate, in order to take their reſpective Trials next Seſſions at the Old-Baily, which begins To-morrow come ſe'nnight.

Univerſal Spectator, Jan. 26. No 277.

In Praiſe of Laughter.

I AM one of that Claſs of Men who love to be merry as well as wiſe; and as I know no greater Sign of Mirth than Laughing, I chuſe that Method of expreſſing it: From this Cuſtom I have been reflected on for ſhewing more Mirth than Wiſdom; but in Defence of myſelf and the reſt of the Laughers of Great Britain, I have in this Letter undertaken to prove, that Laughing is rather the Sign of Wiſdom than Folly.----Ride ſi ſapis, the old Apothegm, Laugh, if you are wiſe, carries ſome Proof, that the Antients entertain'd no mean Opinion of Riſibility. According to the Schoolmen the Definition of a Man is, Animal Riſibile, an Animal that can laugh; then if the Powers of Diſcourſe, and Reaſon, and Laughter be all equally proper to Man only, why ſhou'd not that Man be moſt wiſe who us'd the Power of Laughing moſt, as well as he who us'd moſt Reaſon in his Diſcourſes? ----I muſt confeſs there is an old Latin Adage,

Per Riſum multum poſſis cognoſcere Stultum.
By too much Laughter you a Fool may know.

And another more vulgarly known, A Fool is known by much Laughing; yet neither is to be taken in a Senſe that the Laughers are Fools, but that among them there is a Fool at whom the Wits laugh. That Folly makes wiſe Men laugh is indiſputable; wherefore Eraſmus, in his Moriæ Encomium, or Praiſe of Folly, hath made Folly herſelf ſay, ſhe made Beholders laugh; and that it is the Fools who are laugh'd at, none will contradict, who has had the good Fortune to be one of the Wits of the Company. Nature ſaw this Faculty of human Kind to be ſo neceſſary to its Species, that ſhe ſuffer'd us to be importun'd to laugh by more Cauſes than to exerciſe any other of our Powers: For even Things contrary in themſelves produce this Effect, and we laugh moſt at Things which are moſt witty or moſt abſurd. That Laughter is a Sign of Wiſdom in a wiſe retired Man, may ſeem more difficult to aſſert; yet the Poet ſays in one Queſtion what we have not comprehended in ſeveral Lines, Quid facit Canius tuus? Ridet. And that Democritus, one of the greateſt Laughers, was one of the greateſt Philoſophers of the Age he liv'd in, none I believe will deny. Heraclitus, his Contraſt Sage, indeed was given to Weeping; but were they both now alive, I may venture to affirm more of our modern Wiſemen wou'd rather laugh at Heraclitus weeping, than weep with Democritus laughing. There is one Thing that I have obſerved in my Converſation among Mankind, that ſeveral have laugh'd, tho' at the ſame Time I have been aſſured they took not the Joke, but laugh'd only to conceal their Ignorance; which is a convincing Proof that Laughing they thought was an evident Sign of Prudence and Wiſdom.

Edinburg,

Edinburg, &c. 1. This Day came on the Election of Magiſtrates for this City, when Patrick Lindſay, Eſq; Member of Parliament for the City, was rechoſen Lord Provoſt, Charles Crokat, John Cochran, Thomas Herriot, and John Balfour, were choſen Baillies, James Symſon Dean of Guild, and Thomas Young Treaſurer.

Perth, Aug. 28. The Presbytery of Perth being conven'd, the Committee for viſiting the School of Perth, reported, they did accordingly repair to the School-Houſe, and having heard ſeveral of the Boys explain Titus Livius, Buchanan, and other Authors, ad Aperturam Libri, with great Readineſs and Propriety of Expreſſion, were exceedingly pleaſed with the Proficiency of the Boys in the ſeveral Claſſes, and no leſs ſatisfied with the good Order and exact Diſcipline maintained among them; and after diſmiſſing the School, the Rector and Maſters entertain'd the Committee with ſeveral Poetical Performances done by the Boys both in Engliſh and Latin, of which the Committee think proper to offer to the Presbytery the following one by a Boy of 15 Years, as an Inſtance of Proficiency and good Genius.

Upon a STORM.

A Gloomy Tempeſt riſing from the Main,
With Midnight Darkneſs hides the Heav'nly Plain.
The Clouds diſplay their Sable Files on High,
Fraught with the dread Artill'ry of the Sky.
The Rainy Auſter, with Tempeſtuous Flight,
Pours from his Caverns, and provokes the Fight.
With ſudden Flaſhes all the Welkin glows,
And with full Force the winged Squadrons cloſe:
Hark! ruſhing Clouds, commence the rolling War,
And angry Thunders grumble from afar;
The Bolts impetuous through the Æther fly,
And Floods of Rain confound the liquid Sky.
Say, knowing Goddeſs, what ſuperior Pow'r,
Reſtrains the Thunder in this dreadful Hour?
'Tis thou, Great God, whoſe unconteſted Sway,
All Parts of wide Immenſity obey.
Fix'd by thy Power, and made at thy Command,
Ten Thouſand Orbs in graceful Order ſtand.
Unnumber'd Spirits fall before thy Throne,
Thou Great, Eternal, Infinite and One.

ECCE fugit Phœbus, Pelago ruit atra Procella,
Et denſa Ætherios Volvit Caligine Campos.
Nubila ſe expandunt, quæ Fulmina dira Miniſtrant,

To conclude, the Committee think it incumbent on them to acquaint the Presbytery, that it is the laudable Practice of the Rector to try and improve the Genius of thoſe of the School, who have any Taſte of Poetry in Latin or Engliſh. The Presbytery having conſidered the above Report, are very well ſatisfied therewith, and appoint the ſame be inſerted in the Regiſter, together with the aforeſaid Poem.

Aberdeen, Sept. 25. This Day came on the Election of Magiſtrates, &c. of this City for the enſuing Year, when Hugh Hay of Park was elected Lord Provoſt, William Smith, William Chalmers, John Robertſon, Baillies; James Strachan Dean of Guild, Thomas Paul, Treaſurer, James Leſlie Maſter of Kirk Work, James Legg Maſter of Fortification, George Shepherd Maſter of Hoſpital, and John Miln Maſter of Shorework.

Dundee, Sept. 25. This Day came on the Election of the Magiſtrates of this Borough for the enſuing Year, when Patrick Maxwell Merchant, and late Bailie, was choſen Provoſt, Andrew Wardroper, George Kinloch, John Jobſon, Bailies; Thomas Read, junior, Dean of Guild, and Archibald Doig, Treaſurer; all well affected to his Majeſty's Perſon and Government.

Paris, September 28.

Here follows an Extract of the News the Court has received of a complete Battle gained in Italy the 18*th of* September, 1734.

The Combat laſted from 10 in the Morning till 5 at Night. Standards, Kettle-Drums, Colours and Cannon taken. Five of the Emperor's Generals kill'd; of whom, the Prince of Wirtemberg, they ſay, is one. The Field of Battle was covered with dead Bodies for two or three Leagues, ſo that they could hardly ſet their Feet on the Ground. Our Troops are in Purſuit of the Enemy; and there is room to believe their Buſineſs will be done once for all.

We have loſt a great many Men. The Emperor's Cuiraſſiers were not able to ſtand before our Horſe; and our Carabineers diſtinguiſhed themſelves both on Foot and Horſeback. Meſſ. de Bonas, de Savines, and de Maillebois, are after the Enemy. The Marſhalls of France write, That Troops could not perform better on both Sides; as well did the Generals behave; and the King of Sardinia diſtinguiſhed himſelf very particularly. The Enemy attacked us in our Camp under Guaſtalla.

The following are what we know of the Killed and Wounded.

LIEUTENANT-GENERALS.

D'Affry, kill'd.

Chaſtillon, ſhot through the Calf of his Leg.

D'Harcourt,

D'Harcourt, ſhot in the Arm.
De Lovigny, Leg ſhatter'd.
Peze, two Shot through his Arm, and one thro' his Body.

MAJOR-GENERALS.

De Laignon, wounded.
Moulier, ſlightly wounded.

BRIGADIERS.

D'Averay, his Knee ſhatter'd.

D'Inigny, kill'd.
Teſſe, little Bone of his Leg broke.
D'Armentiere, ſhot in the Neck.
Mongon, killed.

De Guerchy, wounded.
Jouvre, four Shot of a Fuſil.

M. de Bleſſal, Lieutenant Colonel of Picardy, was killed, and his two Sons, one a Captain, and the other a Lieutenant in the ſame Regiment.

De la Motte, Commandant of the Carabineers, and M. Parabert, both wounded.

Mantua, Set. 29. Count Konigſegg paſſed the Po with his Army the 26th, over the two Bridges he had laid near Borgoforte, and encamped at Seraglio. We learn that the Allies Army has likewiſe croſſed the Po near Guaſtolla, in order to oppoſe the Deſigns of the Imperialiſts on the Side of the Oglio. Count Conigſeg has been joined by the Croatians, and a Part of our Garriſon: He has alſo received 2000 Recruits, and expects as many more, which are already in the Tirloſe; and it is aſſured, that ſome Imperial Regiments are in march hither from the Emperor's Hereditary Countries. It appears that the ſaid General deſigns to continue the Compaign all Winter. The Imperialiſts ſtill keep Poſſeſſion of Mirandola, Quiſtello, and Rovero. Forty of the Enemies Officers taken in the late Action have been ſent to Germany. General Valparaiſo, and Major Spiltz, Knight of the Teutonick Order, died the 27th Inſtant of the Wounds they received in the Battle of Guaſtalla.
